

A Perfect Weekend at Lava Rama

The spell was finally broken and after two years of rain, perfect, sunny weather greeted over 350 participants at the 12th annual Lava Rama. round three of the 2006 Boise Co-Op Wild Rockies Mountain Series. The event was also part of the Utah Intermountain Cup Series and thus pulled riders from as far away as California and Arizona, and of course, a ton of Utah riders. The event featured a mountain bike cross-country event and a trail run on Saturday, along with a wild dual trials competition, and then followed up with the first downhill held in the Northwest in 2006 which drew in nearly 100 gung-ho gravity warriors on Sunday.

The event was round three of the 2006 Boise Co-Op Wild Rockies Mountain Series, and was sponsored by the Boise Co-Op, Duke Speed, Larry Miller Subaru, Moto Tech, Cliff Bar, Vitamin Water, Wired Energy Drink, MBT Shoes, the Boise weekly, KIVI Television, J105 Radio, The X, Bandanna Running, Trek, Rob's, Power Cordz, Cycle Works, Dirt Dart, and Cyclone Sports Wear. Lava Rama offered something for everyone; there was a 9.5 mile trail run, and a mountain bike cross-country race, ranging from a beginner distance of 11 miles, up to 24.5 miles for pros, and the first downhill event in the Northwest for 2006. The overall event attendance was a record of 370 participants for the weekend, and riders enjoyed perfect weather throughout the weekend as they played on their bikes and in the world-famous Lava Mineral Pools located right across the street from the start/finish line.

The men's trail run was topped by Tom Borschel from Idaho Falls who showed why he is a world champion age division cross country runner as he flew around the 10.5 mile hilly course in 1:05:12, but Jackson's Cary Smith 1:06:38, hung on gamely to finish second. Boise's Carrie Albers topped the women's running field in a fine 1:29:09. The huge, 17-rider pro men's cross-country mountain bike field was headed by Bart Gillespie, Eric Jones and Eric Ransom, who all finished within one minute of each other. The Women's pro mountain bike cross-country event was dominated by Utah's Kathy Sherwin who won by nearly 10 minutes. The fastest sport riders were Utah riders Jacob Balls and Tracey Petervary.

A new sport was introduced in the Lava Park on Saturday afternoon.....dual trials. The course featured wild, side-by side racing and included a tricky teeter-totter, a roller ramp, an 8-foot drop, and a finish line jump. As expected, it was a total blast to watch and the 12-rider, double-elimination format created incredibly intense competition. In the end, Boise's Art Widmar took the win over Riley Mallard, Travis Elquist and Nate Avery. Watch for this event to appear at upcoming Wild Rockies events that include a downhill. It needs to be seen to be believed.

Sunday's downhill was eagerly received as it featured a reworked course, designed and built by a local crew led by downhill designer Wiley Fuhrman. The route worked off of a 20-30 degree slope versus the old 30-40 degree slope on "L" Mountain, and also featured several man-made jumps and ramps which a pretty good-sized crowd gathered around. The downhill as also part of the Utah Championship Series and carried a NORBA sanction. David Beeson edged Chris Canfield to win the pro class in a fast 2:31, but for the first time ever at a Wild Rockies event, the fastest overall time of 2:28.037 was set by a junior rider, Andrew Pierce from Park City. This kid will be one to watch in the future for sure.

The next round of the 2006 Boise Co-Op Wild Rockies Series will be the 14th annual Revenge of the Singletrack, held at beautiful Magic Mountain Ski Resort, 26 miles south of Twin Falls, Idaho on June 10. For more information go to www.wildrockies.com, or call Ron Dillon at (208) 573-4255.
